'SEXIST PSYCHOLOGY? CLASSIC THEORIES'
IS WRC DISCUSSION TOPIC WEDNESDAY, JAN. 26

MISSOULA--

"Sexist Psychology? Classic Theories" is the topic of a discussion to be presented Wednesday, Jan. 26, in the Women's Resource Center (WRC) at the University of Montana.

The program, which will be at noon Wednesday in the WRC, located on the mall level of the University Center, is the first in a series of six brown bag discussions to be sponsored by the WRC during winter quarter at UM. Theme of the series is "Women and Psychology."

Speakers at this Wednesday's program will include Marty Adrian, a UM student involved in an interdisciplinary counseling program sponsored by the UM School of Education and Department of Psychology; Dr. David E. Cummins, assistant professor of social work at UM, and Judy Smith, who is affiliated with the WRC.

Topics of the WRC brown bag discussion series during winter quarter will include new and classic psychological perspectives on women; the nature of psychological sex differences; double standards in counseling, and the new form of feminist therapy.
